Office of Institutional Assessment, Research, & Planning
The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) and the State of Texas require institutions to demonstrate the outcomes and effectiveness of their programs and services. Information necessary to determine institutional effectiveness may take the form of surveys, focus groups or evaluations. Students are expected to participate in the collection of this information.

The Sue and Radcliffe Killam Library
Students and faculty at Texas A&M International University benefit from an attractive library facility that is well equipped to handle traditional print library resources as well as the rapidly expanding digital library services. They also enjoy an excellent discovery tool and access to the library collections through the WorldShare Management System's WorldCat Discovery. The collection consists of 974,388 titles, including print books, eBooks, audiovisual materials, databases, electronic periodicals, and Federal and Texas State Government Documents. Additionally, the library houses substantial collections in microfilm and microfiche as well as archival materials in the Special Collections.

The Texas A&M International University library belongs to TexShare, a state-wide resource sharing network featuring joint electronic databases, and the following state-wide services: an interlibrary loan agreement supported by a courier service and Internet document delivery and a universal library ID card. It is also a member of OCLC, a worldwide library network, which makes the collections of other institutions available to our users through interlibrary loan. Killam Library's membership in the Texas Digital Library facilitates open access publication of locally produced digital materials such as theses, dissertations, electronic journals, research datasets, and videos from the Presidential Lecture series and the IBC Speaker Series. The library also belongs to a consortium of other Texas A&M University System libraries, which achieves greater value and more extensive resources through collective licensing of databases. More information on the Killam Library is available on the university web page (http://www.tamiu.edu/library/).

Persistence Statement - Graduation Rate
Texas A&M International University is committed to ensuring that all students are provided with an excellent high quality academic program, as well as robust academic support services. Both are designed to assist students to successfully achieve their individual goals and degrees in a reasonable amount of time.

Entering freshmen students enroll in First-Year Experience (FYE) courses. These courses embed several high impact practices that are designed for sustaining persistence towards graduation. The FYE courses introduce students to a common read, undergraduate research, and marketable skills employers seek (e.g., critical thinking/problem-solving skills, and communication skills), where writing and presentation skills, coupled with professionalism, are emphasized. University resources are also introduced, such as the Library, University Learning Center, Writing Center, and other academic support services as well as co-curricular activities. Mentor meetings, as part of the FYE courses, are held throughout the freshmen year to aid with academic issues and develop self-efficacy skills.

The 6-year graduation rate for the first-time, full-time degree-seeking freshman class at Texas A&M International University enrolled in Fall 2012 is 46% and for student athletes is 59%.
