

PRODUCTION OPERATIONS MGT (POM)

POM 3310 Production & Operations Mgt

Introduces the student to planning, organizing, and controlling production and service systems. The impact of new product and process technologies will also be covered. Written and/or oral presentations are required.

Prerequisites: DS 2310

POM 5310 International Production Mgt

An intensive study of how to effectively coordinate production and service operations across international boundaries. Special attention is paid to firms with multinational production operations and firms with international suppliers and/or customers.