Additional Course Information

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT:

On Tuesday, June 2, 2026, between 6:30 PM and 7:15 PM (US Central Time), I invite you to attend a virtual meeting through Blackboard Class Collaborate. The session link will be available on our Blackboard course page. Since this is a 100% online course, attending this meeting is not mandatory, but I highly recommend that you do. In this meeting, I will review the course, the syllabus, weekly modules, discussion posts, quizzes, the final exam, Respondus requirements, and course expectations. I also plan to record the session and post the recording for students who cannot attend live.

IMPORTANT TO KNOW

- All times mentioned in this syllabus are in US Central Time (CT). It is the student's responsibility to make the necessary adjustments for due dates.
- Areas of media and crime are well known for their reactive and ever-changing natures. Therefore, should the need arise, the instructor reserves the right to amend this syllabus. It is students' responsibility to frequently check Blackboard announcements and reminders for updates. Course announcements will be posted on our Blackboard page.
- Since this is an abbreviated online course, it is imperative that students keep up with weekly readings and assignments. To remain active in all aspects of this course, students are expected to log into Blackboard daily and check course announcements, Blackboard messages, weekly modules, and assignment deadlines. Students are encouraged to contact the instructor through Blackboard messaging whenever they need guidance.
- Students will have assignments and tasks every week. During Weeks 1 through 4, weekly modules, discussion posts, quizzes, and related tasks will open each Sunday at 11:59 PM and close the following Sunday at 11:59 PM. The Week 5 module will open Sunday, June 28, 2026, at 11:59 PM and close Thursday, July 2, 2026, at 11:59 PM because Summer I ends that week.

- Weekly modules will be posted to Blackboard every Sunday at 11:59 PM. For Weeks 1 through 4, each module will remain open until the next Sunday at 11:59 PM. Week 5 will remain open until Thursday, July 2, 2026, at 11:59 PM because Summer I ends that week.
- The Media and Crime Case Analysis Paper is due Sunday, June 28, 2026, by 11:59 PM through the Blackboard assignment drop box in Week 4 Module.
- On Blackboard, along with announcements, the instructor will post drop boxes, discussion topics, PowerPoints, additional readings, videos, and other pertinent materials. This online platform is intended to enhance your academic success and provide ongoing support outside the classroom.
- In addition, the Blackboard page will feature discussion forums that I have created specifically for this course. You are encouraged to post your queries, comments, and ideas on these message boards. This will not only promote interaction with peers but also a collaborative learning environment. Please feel free to actively engage with the material and one another, as this will enhance your understanding and positively impact our classroom community.
- Some of the topics we will cover in this class will bring about different points of view. Some of those views might contradict yours. Students are expected to respect the opinions of their classmates and professor. Sexist, racist, discriminatory, etc. views will never be tolerated, and Texas A&M International University (TAMU) policies will be enforced.
- Students are expected to follow the netiquette during online activities.
- For more information, please read the Student Handbook at <https://www.tamtu.edu/scce/studenthandbook.shtml>

Communication with the instructor

- For this course, please use Blackboard messaging rather than email for all course-related communication. If you have any questions about the class, the topics we are covering, assignments, deadlines, quizzes, exams, or any issue that the professor needs to be made aware of, please send me a message through Blackboard. I will do my best to respond to Blackboard messages within two business days. I may not respond on weekends or university holidays.
- Blackboard messages are expected to be concise, clear, and respectful. Please include the title of the course and your full name as it appears on our class roster in your message.
- My office phone number is 956-326-3365, please leave a message if I am not in my office.
- Be advised that I use Blackboard to make general announcements and communicate with students in this course. Thus, it is your responsibility to check Blackboard announcements and Blackboard messages regularly, preferably every day.
- If you would like to meet about anything related to the course, please send me a message through Blackboard messaging to set up a virtual Microsoft Teams meeting.

Generative AI use

Your assignments must showcase your own thinking. Turnitin and other tools will screen submissions for both plagiarism and AI-generated text. Detection flags prompt a conversation, not an automatic penalty. Outside the specific tasks where I invite you to experiment with AI, keep its role limited and transparent.

- Disclosure: If you use an artificial intelligence tool for brainstorming, language polishing, or similar help, note the tool, how you used it, and roughly how much it contributed.
- Proportion cap: Artificial intelligence generated material, including text, images, code, or data tables, should stay below about 25% of any submission unless the assignment explicitly allows more.
- Consequences: Work that exceeds the cap or lacks full disclosure may be returned ungraded for revision or, if serious, referred for an academic integrity review.
- Clarify early: If any part of this policy seems unclear, ask me before you submit.

This balance lets you explore AI responsibly while ensuring your own voice remains central.

Student Learning Outcomes

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon finishing this course, students will comprehend;

- Analyze how media shapes public perceptions of crime, victimization, offenders, and the criminal justice system.
- Evaluate crime portrayals across different media platforms and compare them with actual crime patterns and trends.
- Identify stereotypes, biases, and distortions in media depictions of offenders, victims, and criminal justice professionals.
- Examine how media portrayals influence fear of crime, public opinion, and criminal justice policy debates.

- Apply criminological and media-related perspectives to assess real-world media examples and communicate informed viewpoints through discussion, writing, and presentation.

These objectives support the course's primary goal of improving critical thinking skills. The course components aim to promote the development and utilization of complex thinking skills such as analytical, synthetic, and applied thinking.

Grading Criteria

CLASS FORMAT AND COURSE REQUIREMENTS

This course is designed as a 5-week 100% online course. Each week, the instructor will upload a module (a module is basically a folder named after the week, such as Week 1). Other than weekly assigned chapters from the textbook, the instructor may assign extra readings or links to relevant videos (these will appear in each module).

DISCUSSION POSTS (100 points in total)

For Weeks 1 through 4, discussion posts will open each Sunday at 11:59 PM and will be due the following Sunday at 11:59 PM.

Relevant discussion topics for Weeks 1, 2, 3, and 4 will be posted in the respective module for that week. No discussion assignment will be required for week 5.

You will submit discussion posts across Weeks 1 through 4. Meet-and-greet posts, if assigned, do not count toward graded posts.

1. On each discussion thread, the first post will be your educated opinion (coming directly from reading material; you will cite relevant parts of the reading material) about the discussion topic on hand.
2. Your second post will reflect your opinions about a peer's post for that same week.

Each post, including your reaction to a peer's post, must be at least one full paragraph of at least 10 sentences. During Week 1, each student will submit four graded discussion posts. During Weeks 2, 3, and 4, each student will submit two graded discussion posts per week. Each student will submit ten graded discussion posts over the course.

Each post will be worth a maximum of 10 points. With 10 posts across four weeks, students can accumulate a maximum of 100 points from discussions. Students may post more than the required number of posts and use these discussion threads to ask questions to other students or the instructor.

The rubric and detailed instructions are posted on Blackboard.

QUIZZES (100 points in total)

Throughout the course, students will complete 4 quizzes, each aligning with the specific chapters assigned for that week. No quizzes are assigned for Week 5. Each quiz will comprise 10 multiple-choice questions, with each question carrying a value of 2.5 points, resulting in a total of 25 points per quiz.

Students will have only one attempt to complete each quiz within a strict time limit of 20 minutes. You will see only one question on the screen, and you will need to answer that question to proceed to the next. Once you have answered and moved on, the system will not allow you to return to previous questions or change your answers.

Students can earn a maximum of 100 points from quizzes (4 quizzes, each worth 25 points). These quizzes will be administered through Blackboard. For Weeks 1 through 4, each weekly quiz will open on Sunday at 11:59 PM and close the following Sunday at 11:59 PM.

To maintain academic integrity, all quizzes will require the use of Respondus LockDown Browser and Respondus Monitor.

MEDIA AND CRIME CASE ANALYSIS PAPER (100 points in total)

Due by Sunday, June 28, 2026, by 11:59 PM through the Blackboard assignment drop box.

Students will complete one case analysis paper worth 100 points. The paper must be 8 to 10 pages of writing, double-spaced, and written in American Psychological Association style. The title page and references page do not count toward the page requirement.

Students must choose one approved real-world crime case and analyze how media coverage represented the case. The purpose is not to retell the crime. The purpose is to explain how media coverage shaped public understanding of the crime, victim, accused person or offender, police, courts, punishment, fear, public safety, or criminal justice policy.

Approved cases include the O. J. Simpson case, the Boston Marathon bombing, the Columbine High School massacre, the Casey Anthony case and the death of Caylee Anthony, and the Gabby Petito case. Students may not choose a different case without written permission from the instructor.

The paper must use the textbook and at least four credible outside sources about the selected case. At least two outside sources must be credible news sources, and at least three outside sources should be actual media coverage or media representations of the case rather than only background summaries.

Students should apply at least three textbook concepts, such as news values, framing, moral panic, media effects, visual spectacle, victim construction, police image, surveillance, or media misogyny. The detailed instructions and 100-point rubric are posted on Blackboard.

FINAL EXAM (100 Points)

Due by Thursday, July 2, 2026, by 11:59 PM.

The final exam will be posted with the Week 5 Module, which opens Sunday, June 28, 2026, at 11:59 PM and closes Thursday, July 2, 2026, at 11:59 PM. The final exam will consist of 50 multiple-choice questions drawn from the Week 3, Week 4, and Week 5 Modules. Each question is worth 2 points, and students can earn a maximum of 100 points from this exam.

Just like the quizzes, you will have only one attempt to complete the final exam within a strict time limit of 100 minutes. You will see only one question on the screen at a time, and you must answer that question to proceed to the next one. Once you have answered a question and moved on to the next, the system will not allow you to go back to previous questions or change your answers.

To ensure academic integrity, the final exam will require the use of Respondus LockDown Browser and Respondus Monitor.

Weekly readings: Preparing for each weekly module is required. In addition to the textbook, I may post supplemental readings, videos, or other materials in the relevant Blackboard module. Students are responsible for reviewing all required materials before completing discussion posts, quizzes, the case analysis paper, and the final exam.

Make-up policy: No make-up quizzes or exams will be offered unless a documented excuse is provided. Please read Texas A&M International University Course Policies carefully for more information.

University/College Policies

Please see the University Policies below.

COVID-19 Related Policies

If you have tested positive for COVID-19, please refer to the Student Handbook, Appendix A (Attendance Rule) for instructions.

Required Class Attendance

Students are expected to attend every class in person (or virtually, if the class is online) and to complete all assignments. If you cannot attend class, it is your responsibility to communicate absences with your professors. The faculty member will decide if your excuse is valid and thus may provide lecture materials of the class. According to University policy, acceptable reasons for an absence, which cannot affect a student's grade, include:

- Participation in an authorized University activity.
- Death or major illness in a student's immediate family.
- Illness of a dependent family member.
- Participation in legal proceedings or administrative procedures that require a student's presence.
- Religious holy day.
- Illness that is too severe or contagious for the student to attend class.
- Required participation in military duties.
- Mandatory admission interviews for professional or graduate school which cannot be rescheduled.

Students are responsible for providing satisfactory evidence to faculty members within seven calendar days of their absence and return to class. They must substantiate the reason for the absence. If the absence is excused, faculty members must either provide students with the opportunity to make up the exam or other work missed, or provide a satisfactory alternative to complete the exam or other work missed within 30 calendar days from the date of absence. Students who miss class due to a University-sponsored activity are responsible for identifying their absences to their instructors with as much advance notice as possible.

Classroom Behavior (applies to online or Face-to-Face Classes)

In the classroom, students are expected to listen attentively, participate respectfully, and adhere to established rules. Behavior that interferes with the class lecture may result in disciplinary action, ensuring a productive and respectful learning environment for everyone. Any disputes over academic matters should be addressed calmly and constructively, ideally during designated times such as office hours or after class. If a student does not agree with a decision, they can request a meeting with the instructor to discuss their concerns in more detail. Should further resolution be needed, the student may escalate the matter to the department head or use formal grievance procedures as outlined in the sections below. (please refer to Student Handbook Article 4 (<https://www.tamiau.edu/handbook/article-04.shtml>)).

TAMIU Honor Code: Plagiarism and Cheating

As a TAMIU student, you are bound by the TAMIU Honor Code to conduct yourself ethically in all your activities as a TAMIU student and to report violations of the Honor Code. Please read carefully the Student Handbook Article 7 and Article 10 available at Student Handbook (<https://www.tamiau.edu/handbook/index.shtml>).

We are committed to strict enforcement of the Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code tend to involve claiming work that is not one's own, most commonly plagiarism in written assignments and any form of cheating on exams and other types of assignments.

Plagiarism is the presentation of someone else's work as your own. It occurs when you:

1. Borrow someone else's facts, ideas, or opinions and put them entirely in your own words. You must acknowledge that these thoughts are not your own by immediately citing the source in your paper. Failure to do this is plagiarism.
2. Borrow someone else's words (short phrases, clauses, or sentences), you must enclose the copied words in quotation marks as well as citing the source. Failure to do this is plagiarism.
3. Present someone else's paper or exam (stolen, borrowed, or bought) as your own. You have committed a clearly intentional form of intellectual theft and have put your academic future in jeopardy. This is the worst form of plagiarism.

Here is another explanation from the 2020, seventh edition of the Manual of The American Psychological Association (APA):

"Plagiarism is the act of presenting the words, idea, or images of another as your own; it denies authors or creators of content the credit they are due. Whether deliberate or unintentional, plagiarism violates ethical standards in scholarship" (p. 254). This same principle applies to the illicit use of AI.

Plagiarism: Researchers do not claim the words and ideas of another as their own; they give credit where credit is due. Quotations marks should be used to indicate the exact words of another. Each time you paraphrase another author (i.e., summarize a passage or rearrange the order of a sentence and change some of the words), you need to credit the source in the text. The key element of this principle is that authors do not present the work of another as if it were their own words. This can extend to ideas as well as written words. If authors model a study after one done by someone else, the originating author should be given credit. If the rationale for a study was suggested in the discussion section of someone else's article, the person should be given credit. Given the free exchange of ideas, which is very important for the health of intellectual discourse, authors may not know where an idea for a study originated. If authors do know, however, they should acknowledge the source; this includes personal communications (p. 11). For guidance on proper documentation, consult the Academic Success Center or a recommended guide to documentation and research such as the Manual of the APA or the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers. If you still have doubts concerning proper documentation, seek advice from your instructor prior to submitting a final draft.

TAMIU has penalties for plagiarism and cheating.

- Penalties for Plagiarism: Should a faculty member discover that a student has committed plagiarism, the student should receive a grade of 'F' in that course and the matter will be referred to the Honor Council for possible disciplinary action. The faculty member, however, may elect to give freshmen and sophomore students a "zero" for the assignment and to allow them to revise the assignment up to a grade of "F" (50%) if they believe that the student plagiarized out of ignorance or carelessness and not out of an attempt to deceive in order to earn an unmerited grade; the instructor must still report the offense to the Honor Council. This option should not be available to juniors, seniors, or graduate students, who cannot reasonably claim ignorance of documentation rules as an excuse. For repeat offenders in undergraduate courses or for an offender in any graduate course, the penalty for plagiarism is likely to include suspension or expulsion from the university.
 - Caution: Be very careful what you upload to Turnitin or send to your professor for evaluation. Whatever you upload for evaluation will be considered your final, approved draft. If it is plagiarized, you will be held responsible. The excuse that "it was only a draft" will not be accepted.
 - Caution: Also, do not share your electronic files with others. If you do, you are responsible for the possible consequences. If another student takes your file of a paper and changes the name to his or her name and submits it and you also submit the paper, we will hold both of you responsible for plagiarism. It is impossible for us to know with certainty who wrote the paper and who stole it. And, of course, we cannot know if there was collusion between you and the other student in the matter.
- Penalties for Cheating: Should a faculty member discover a student cheating on an exam or quiz or other class project, the student should receive a "zero" for the assignment and not be allowed to make the assignment up. The incident should be reported to the chair of the department and to the Honor Council. If the cheating is extensive, however, or if the assignment constitutes a major grade for the course (e.g., a final exam), or if the student has cheated in the past, the student should receive an "F" in the course, and the matter should be referred to the Honor Council. Additional penalties, including suspension or expulsion from the university may be imposed. Under no circumstances should a student who deserves an "F" in the course be allowed to withdraw from the course with a "W."
 - Caution: Chat groups that start off as "study groups" can easily devolve into "cheating groups." Be very careful not to join or remain any chat group if it begins to discuss specific information about exams or assignments that are meant to require individual work. If you are a member of such a group and it begins to cheat, you will be held responsible along with all the other members of the group. The TAMIU Honor Code requires that you report any such instances of cheating.

- Student Right of Appeal: Faculty will notify students immediately via the student's TAMIU e-mail account that they have submitted plagiarized work. Students have the right to appeal a faculty member's charge of academic dishonesty by notifying the TAMIU Honor Council of their intent to appeal as long as the notification of appeal comes within 10 business days of the faculty member's e-mail message to the student and/or the Office of Student Conduct and Community Engagement. The Student Handbook provides more details.

Use of Work in Two or More Courses

You may not submit work completed in one course for a grade in a second course unless you receive explicit permission to do so by the instructor of the second course. In general, you should get credit for a work product only once.

AI Policies

Your instructor will provide you with their personal policy on the use of AI in the classroom setting and associated coursework.

TAMIU E-Mail and SafeZone

Personal Announcements sent to students through TAMIU E-mail (tamiu.edu or dusty email) are the official means of communicating course and university business with students and faculty –not the U.S. Mail and no other e-mail addresses. Students and faculty must check their TAMIU e-mail accounts regularly, if not daily. Not having seen an important TAMIU e-mail or message from a faculty member, chair, or dean is not accepted as an excuse for failure to take important action.

Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to download the SafeZone app, which is a free mobile app for all University faculty, staff, and students. SafeZone allows you to: report safety concerns (24/7), get connected with mental health professionals, activate location sharing with authorities, and anonymously report incidents. Go to SafeZone (<https://www.tamiu.edu/adminis/police/safezone/index.shtml>) for more information.

Copyright Restrictions

The Copyright Act of 1976 grants to copyright owners the exclusive right to reproduce their works and distribute copies of their work. Works that receive copyright protection include published works such as a textbook. Copying a textbook without permission from the owner of the copyright may constitute copyright infringement. Civil and criminal penalties may be assessed for copyright infringement. Civil penalties include damages up to $100,000; criminal penalties include a fine up to $250,000 and imprisonment. Copyright laws do not allow students and professors to make photocopies of copyrighted materials, but you may copy a limited portion of a work, such as article from a journal or a chapter from a book for your own personal academic use or, in the case of a professor, for personal, limited classroom use. In general, the extent of your copying should not suggest that the purpose or the effect of your copying is to avoid paying for the materials. And, of course, you may not sell these copies for a profit. Thus, students who copy textbooks to avoid buying them or professors who provide photocopies of textbooks to enable students to save money are violating the law.

Students with Disabilities

Texas A&M International University seeks to provide reasonable accommodations for all qualified persons with disabilities. This University will adhere to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations as required to afford equal education opportunity. It is the student's responsibility to register with the Office of Disability Services for Students located in Student Center 124. This office will contact the faculty member to recommend specific, reasonable accommodations. Faculty are prohibited from making accommodations based solely on communications from students. They may make accommodations only when provided documentation by the Office of Disability Services for Students.

For accommodations or assistance with disabilities, contact the Disability Coordinator, Karla Pedraza, at karla.pedraza@tamiu.edu, call 956.326.2763, or visit Student Center 124.

Student Attendance and Leave of Absence (LOA) Policy

As part of our efforts to assist and encourage all students towards graduation, TAMIU provides LOA's for students, including pregnant/parenting students, in accordance with the Attendance Rule (Section 3.07) and the Student LOA Rule (Section 3.08), which includes the "Leave of Absence Request" form. Both rules can be found in the TAMIU Student Handbook (URL: Student Handbook (<https://www.tamiu.edu/handbook/index.shtml>)).

Pregnant and Parenting Students

Under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, harassment based on sex, including harassment because of pregnancy or related conditions, is prohibited. A pregnant/parenting student must be granted an absence for as long as the student's physician deems the absence medically necessary. It is a violation of Title IX to ask for documentation relative to the pregnant/parenting student's status beyond what would be required for other medical conditions. Students who experience or observe alleged or suspected discrimination due to their pregnant/parenting status, should report to the TAMIU Title IX Coordinator (Lorissa M. Cortez, 5201 University Boulevard, KLM 159B, Laredo, TX 78041, TitleIX@tamiu.edu, 956.326.2857) and/or the Office of Civil Rights (Dallas Office, U.S. Department of Education, 1999 Bryan Street, Suite 1620, Dallas, TX 75201-6810, 214.661.9600). You can also report it on TAMIU's anonymous electronic reporting site, Report It, at <https://www.tamiu.edu/reportit> (<https://www.tamiu.edu/reportit/index.shtml>).

TAMIU advises a pregnant/parenting student to notify their professor once the student is aware that accommodations for such will be necessary. It is recommended that the student and professor develop a reasonable plan for the student's completion of missed coursework or assignments. The Office of Compliance (Lorissa M. Cortez, lorissam.cortez@tamiu.edu) can assist the student and professor in working out the reasonable accommodation. For other questions or concerns regarding Title IX compliance related to pregnant/parenting students, contact the Title IX Coordinator. In the event that a student needs a leave of absence for a substantial period of time, TAMIU urges the student to consider a Leave of Absence (LOA) as outlined in the TAMIU Student Handbook. #As part of our efforts to assist and encourage all students towards graduation, TAMIU provides LOAs for students, including pregnant/parenting students, in accordance with the Attendance Rule and the Student LOA Rule. #Both rules can be found in the TAMIU Student Handbook.

Incompletes

Students who are unable to complete a course should withdraw from the course before the final date for withdrawal and receive a "W." To qualify for an "incomplete" and thus have the opportunity to complete the course at a later date, a student must meet the following criteria:

1. The student must have completed 90% of the course work assigned before the final date for withdrawing from a course with a "W", and the student must be passing the course;
2. The student cannot complete the course because an accident, an illness, or a traumatic personal or family event occurred after the final date for withdrawal from a course;
3. The student must sign an "Incomplete Grade Contract" and secure signatures of approval from the professor and the college dean.
4. The student must agree to complete the missing course work before the end of the next long semester; failure to meet this deadline will cause the "I" to automatically be converted to an "F"; extensions to this deadline may be granted by the dean of the college. This is the general policy regarding the circumstances under which an "incomplete" may be granted, but under exceptional circumstances, a student may receive an incomplete who does not meet all of the criteria above if the faculty member, department chair, and dean recommend it.

WIN Contracts

The Department of Biology and Chemistry does not permit WIN contracts. For other departments within the college, WIN Contracts are offered only under exceptional circumstances and are limited to graduating seniors. Only courses offered by full-time TAMIU faculty or TAMIU instructors are eligible to be contracted for the WIN requirement. However, a WIN contract for a course taught by an adjunct may be approved, with special permission from the department chair and dean. Students must seek approval before beginning any work for the WIN Contract. No student will contract more than one course per semester. Summer WIN Contracts must continue through both summer sessions.

Student Responsibility for Dropping a Course

It is the responsibility of the student to drop the course before the final date for withdrawal from a course. Faculty members, in fact, may not drop a student from a course without getting the approval of their department chair and dean.

Independent Study Course

Independent Study (IS) courses are offered only under exceptional circumstances. Required courses intended to build academic skills may not be taken as IS (e.g., clinical supervision and internships). No student will take more than one IS course per semester. Moreover, IS courses are limited to seniors and graduate students. Summer IS course must continue through both summer sessions.

Grade Changes & Appeals

Faculty are authorized to change final grades only when they have committed a computational error or an error in recording a grade, and they must receive the approval of their department chairs and the dean to change the grade. As part of that approval, they must attach a detailed explanation of the reason for the mistake. Only in rare cases would another reason be entertained as legitimate for a grade change. A student who is unhappy with his or her grade on an assignment must discuss the situation with the faculty member teaching the course. If students believe that they have been graded unfairly, they have the right to appeal the grade using a grade appeal process in the Student Handbook and in the Faculty Handbook.

Final Examination

All courses in all colleges must include a comprehensive exam or performance and be given on the date and time specified by the Academic Calendar and the Final Exam schedule published by the Registrar's Office. In the College of Arts & Sciences all final exams must contain a written component. The written component should comprise at least 20% of the final exam grade. Exceptions to this policy must receive the approval of the department chair and the dean at the beginning of the semester.

Distance Education Courses

Regular and Substantive Interaction (Note to Instructors):

The U.S. Department of Education (ED) has issued Regular and Substantive Interaction: Background, Concerns, and Guiding Principles which went into effect on July 1, 2021. Under the new regulations, the U.S. Department of Education requires that all online courses and programs for which students may use Title IV funds (federal financial aid) include regular and substantive interaction between students and their instructors. This ruling applies to both synchronous and asynchronous courses, with the primary focus being asynchronous courses. The Department of Education has the authority to audit courses and programs at institutions, like Texas A&M International University, with online offerings.

Be sure that your course provides for regular and substantive interaction between faculty and students, students and students, and students and content. (C-RAC, OSCQR, QM, SACSCOC, SC)

- 1. Regular and substantive instructor-to-student expectations and predictable/scheduled interactions and feedback are present, appropriate for the course length and structure, and are easy to find. (OSCQR, SACSCOC, SC)*
- 2. Expectations for all course interactions (instructor to student, student to student, student to instructor) are clearly stated and modeled in all course interactions/communication channels. (OSCQR, SACSCOC, SC)*

Be sure to add clear statements on your syllabi about these instructor-to-student expectations.

Visit for additional guidance on including Regular and Substantive Interaction: <https://www.tamiu.edu/distance/faculty/regular-and-substantive-interaction.shtml>

Online Courses and On-Campus Meetings

Texas Administrative Code (TAC), Title 19, Part 1, Chapter 2, Subchapter J, Section 2.202 (https://texreg.sos.state.tx.us/public/readtac\$ext.TacPage?sl=R&app=9&p_dir=&p_rloc=&p_tloc=&p_ploc=&pg=1&p_tac=&ti=19&pt=1&ch=2&rl=202), defines distance education as the formal educational process that occurs when students and instructors are not in the same physical setting for the majority (more than 50%) of instruction. Distance education includes hybrid and 100% online courses and programs as defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB):

- Hybrid Course - A distance education course in which more than 50 percent but less than 100 percent of instructional activity takes place when the student(s) and instructor(s) are in separate physical locations.
- 100-Percent Online Course - A distance education course in which 100 percent of instructional activity takes place when the student(s) and instructor(s) are in separate physical locations. Requirements for on-campus or in-person orientation, testing, academic support services, internships/fieldwork, or other non-instructional activities do not exclude a course from this category.

In this online course, be sure to confirm what in-person meetings may be required of you (if applicable).
